

This is Bob Brenna Jr., of the law firm of Brenna and Brenna, with something to think about.

Imagine someone giving you the ultimate power over the entire government for just one day. Well, when the people who founded our country gave us the right to trial by jury, they did just that. They gave us the power and the freedom of having the people themselves be the final stronghold of power in our country.

No one in government has the right to make the final decision about what is right or wrong, but you do. We alone sit in judgment of the government, instead of it being the other way around. Many have sacrificed their lives to preserve our freedom. And we must use it wisely.

The right and honor of serving on a jury is your opportunity to sit in judgment, and to ensure that we never lose control. If you think about it, it is an amazing opportunity and a tremendous responsibility.

Your right to serve as a juror is precious. Cherish it as much as those who fought for it did...
